AT OLD BETHANY

The Historic College's Fifty-eighth Commencement Yesterday.

Thirteen Graduates, Among Them a Native of Japan, Whose Oration was a Clever Effort-Large Crowd Attended-Good Prospects for the College Next Year-A Very Successful Commencement.

The fifty-eighth annual commencement of Bethuny college occurred yesterday and was signalized by the best for several years. The struggles the college has undergone may be said to be at an end, judging from the enthusiasm manifested by the presence of a large number of alumni and the general encouraging character of the proceedings as a whole. The election of Rev. J. M. Kersey, of Washington, Pa., to the presidency, exclusively forecast in the Intelligencer last week, marked a spurt towards the end sought and everything points to a most successful year, beginning next September.

Shut away from railroads and other environments that tend to the practical as is the beautiful village of Bethany, has the tendency to stimulate a love for their alma mater and the fostering of a college spirit equalled nowhere else.consequently the visitor is struck by the ties of feeling binding old Bethany students which are demonstrated in their annual pligrimage to the Brooke county town at commencement, time. The commencements are always good and yesterday's exceptionally so, having also the accompaniment of a very large

The sun was playing pranks behind the clouds at 10 o'clock as the faculty and graduates, headed by Meister's band, marched from Pendleton Heights to the chapel, where the exercises took place. At this hour the auditorium was filled with one of the most representative audiences for several years.

The decorations were tastily arranged. The class colors, black and old gold, combined with other colors were suspended above the stage, and at either Bishop Alexande Campbell and James A. Garfield, resting on beds of ferns. The board of trustees and many alumni occupied seats on the stage with the graduates. President J. M. Kersey conducted the exercises. There were thirteen graduates, eight rendering commencement performances.

Meister's orchestra xercises with a opened the with a lively and Professor selection, and Professor Kelth, of Lexington, Kentucky, formerly of Bethany, made the invocation inforceful and eloquent style. After another musical selection, the programme proper opened with the salutatory by T. J. White.

The College Man.

Mr. White's theme was "The College Man in Active Life." He began by asking why so many years were spent in school, answering his own question by saying that it was done to equip the college man for active life. The student of Caesar, Socrates, Plato, of the philosophers and the scientists, of puzzling problems in algebra and geometry, would be the man capable of meeting the questions of the day. He would be broadly equipped to fight the trust octupus and coming governmental problems. Mr. White's delivery was excellent and he concluded by extending a welcome chalf of the class of 1899.

The next oration was in Greek, delivered by W. L. Fisher, who eulogized Socrates, the great Greek philosopher. The Greek oration is always a feature at Bethany commencements and Mr. Fisher upheld the standard. Applause was frequent, the students starting the ball, to the amusement of the audience to whom the oration was Greek figuratively and literally.

"Is Poetry Passing?" was the theme of a pretty oration by Miss Pearl Morris. An instinct of poetical expressions, she said, was a component of human nature from the beginning of the world. Poetry became the means of imparting history, and after prose usurped this channel poetry became an art rather than a means, until it is the beautiful of language expression. Miss Morris quoted liberally and appropriately from Longfellow, Burns, Gray, Milton, and others of the great poets. James Whitcomb Riley and Kipling were praised and such writers, she said, were rescu-ing poetry from the decadence brought on by Browning and the "puzzle poets. Miss Morris' pleasing delivery combined to make her performance a decided

A Japanese student was the next per former, F. N. Otsuka, and his effort was awaited with interest. Mr. Otsuka spoke on "The Czar's Proposal for Dis-armament." He demonstrated that he was a bright young man, and his accent was the only drawback to a thoughtful discourse, but as he continued familiarity smoothed this over and his audience followed him closely. Mr. Otsuka was well posted on the status of the Powers. He intimated that the Czar was not sincere in his peace proposition. The Russian bear was willing to cease strengthening his mays, for "a bear didn't need to swim but could get all he wanted on land." This illustration was applauded by the audience. Mr. Otsuka argued carnestly to show that the Czar's disarmament scheme was lacking in sincerity, and his performance was a feature of the programme. He is destined to make his mark and is a credit to the college. His theory that the Czar's proposal came on the heels of a discussed alliance between the United States and England was but one of his many gems of originality. His oratori-cal gifts were a delightful surprise. His close was marked by a veritable ova-

"The Power of the Mind Over Matter," and shared the honors with the splen did array. It was along pscyhological lines and was briefer than the previous efforts. Mr. Murray dwelt on conscience and the soul and spoke of the exstacles of feeling by the possessor of beautiful soul.

Miss Mary Charnock spoke of "The UNUSUALLY GOOD EXERCISES Study of Perfection," and had a logical oration, advocating the culture of the soul. The true aim of culture was the development of spirit and character; an inward process, not of the part, but the whole. Illustrations were drawn from the growth and culture and development of seeds in the soil, and art and ratistic sentiments were held up to the student. The old education doesn't meet the needs of to-day, hence there must be scientifical study as well as the classical, for a full mind was brought about only when the mind was not devoted exclusively to one particular Miss Charnock's oration was study.

thoughtful and charmingly delivered. "Our Relations with the Philippines" was a timely topic discoursed on by T. B. M. Sommerfield. Expansion was condemned. Mr. Sommerfield instanced the disasters and losses England had sustained in India and Germany with her colony in Africa. Humane motives, he said, was the best argument expansionists used, but the Filipinos ought to be left govern themselves. Their civilization would be brought about, argued Mr. Sommerfield, by evolution and an attempt to hurry the process would be a disturbing factor. Then there was a sentimental side to the anti-expansion theory. Expansion was contrary to principles engrafted in the Declaration of Independence. His arguments were lucid and delivery good.

The valedictory was delivered by Miss Lillian Roberts. The introductory passages to the farewells were far above the average in class valedictories and contained many beautiful bits of sentiment. The best days are the past, or so they seem, was Miss Roberts' keynote. Miss Roberts' valedictory was no mechanical farewell and her voice quivered with deep feeling in bidding good bye to the faculty, fellow students, "to thedearoldhillsof Bethany," and lastly to classmates.

Degrees Conferred.

Ex-President W. K. Pendleton of Eustis, Fla., presented the degrees and prefaced this function with an expression of the pleasure it gave him to be back in old Bethany and meet again friends of long ago. The venerable ex-president was warmly greeted. Time showed its traces in his steps but the humor twinkled brightly in his eyes and flashed forth when he presented the diplomas to the girls.

Magna Cum Laude, (a grade of 94 per cent in all studies)—Miss Mary E. Clifton Charnock, of Wellsburg, W. Va. Before the benediction dismissed the audience, President Kersey announced that on September 3, Bethany would open her doors for students as in the past, a remark that created enthusiasm. Furthermore, President Kersey said Bethany college was there to stay. The faculty was complete. There would be an additional teacher in the school of music. Continuing, the new president expressed thanks for the sympathy for Bethany college, but he wanted support as well. He wanted it understood that Bethany was not dying, nor slek, but was beginning a new era and would last so long as the hills about her. President Kersey made a strong impression and under his guidance it is no valn boust to predict Bethany's progress by gigantic strides in the future. He has youth, energy, enthusiasm and ability, and all the forces required.

Rev. C. M. Oliphant, of the First Christian church, Wheeling, pronounced the benediction.

Commencement Notes.

Mayor C. B. Scott and his estimable wife yesterday celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary by tendering an elaborate dinner to a number of their friends attending commencement, an elaborate dinner to a number of their friends attending commencement, and it was a joyous affair. On June 15, 1859, at Connellsville, Pa., Mr. Scott and Miss Gilmore were married. The groom came from McClellandton, Pa., and the bride's home was in Connellsville. Mr. Scott, who is a merchant at Bethany, and one of the college trustees, has done his duty toward the college, six of his children having been graduated there. They are O. E., of St. Louis; Prof. Manton, M., of Glentral and Misses Ola, Zona and Goldie, of St. Louis; Prof. Manton, M., of Glentral school; H. G., of St. Louis; and Misses Ola, Zona and Goldie, of Bethany. Three younger children, Misses Odessa Klief, and Catherine Valpa and Master Clark Baron, are likely to follow the good example. The recipients of Mr. and Mrs. Scott's hospitality were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smith, of Uniontown; Mr. and Mrs. George C. Curtis, of Wellsburg: Prof. J. C. Keith, Lexington, Ky.; George W. Gilmer, Connellsville, Pa.; Miss Grace Lorentz, Glenville; F. N. Otsuka, of Japan; Miss Flora Smith, of Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. Chara Sheppard, Sedalia, Mo.; W. H. Vodrey, East Liverpool; Prof. Oscar Schmiedel, Bethany; Prof. John C. Shaw, West Liberty; Miss Meta Roberts, Moundsville; John Wallace, Wheeling; Miss Sadie Fields, Duquesne, Pa.; Miss Olive Dunlar, West Alexander; T. Harvey Pollock, Wheeling; Mrs. O. E. Scott, St. Louis; George Swaney, Miss Estella Swaney, Fittsburgh; Prof. M. M. Scott, Glerville.

sor for riding a horse over the pave-ment. Mayor Scott's term expires next week.

The year just closed has been re-markably free from the blckerings at one time so common. It was not un-usual for students to be expelled in bunches, but better conditions now happily prevail.

The camera flend was in evidence throughout the day, taking advantage of the picturesque scenery about the college.

Henry Newton Miller, one of the post-graduates, has been elected to teach literature, among other branches.

The class of 1897 held an enjoyable reunion yesterday afternoon, as did the alumni at their annual meeting.

"Open house" was the order of the day, and Bethany's proverbial hospit ality was greatly in evidence.

Bethany's glee club the past season was one of the best ever representing the college.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock

Markets.
NEW YORK, June 15.—Money on call setendy at 2@3 per cent; last loan 21/2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3% per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4 87%@4 88 for demand and at $4 85%@ 4 86 for 60 days; posted rates $4 8614@ 4 87 and $4 89; commercial bills $4 85%. Silver certificates 60½@62c. Bar silver 60%c. Mexican dollars 48½c. Government bonds firmer. State bonds inactive. Railroad bonds irregular.

The public continued to hold aloof from the stock market and dealings today were almost wholly professional. There was the semblance of strength at one time, due to sympathy with the activity in a small group of specialties, which were bought by large interests more or less identified with them. Prices of the group were advanced and the traders bought the general list, causing small advances all round. But the rise failed absolutely to invite any outside buying and the supporting tactics were abandoned during the course of the day. The listless condition that ensued was such as to invite bear aggression. But the bear party apparently suffered from the seasonable lassitude as much as the general public and their operations were not pursued with any vigor or determination. However, the gains at one time established were practically all wiped out before the close and net losses are the rule, most of them being restricted to fractions. Sugar ruled above yesterday's level, rising at one time nearly 4 points, but closing at a net gain of only 1% per cent. The Federal Steel stocks, Brooklyn Transit, People's Gas, Manhattan and Consolidated Gas also enloyed their period of strength. There was an early break in the Denver & Rio Grande stocks and Colorado Fuel weakened late in the day on account of the abor troubles over the eight hour law in Colorado, American Smelting stiffened 2 points on a few isolated transactions, the officials of the company professing to feel no uneasiness over the strike and alleging that it came at a good time. American car showed losses of 3 and 2 points respectively for the common and preferred stocks, and Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cincinnati & St. Louis, moved in an erratic manner, 3 points over yesterday's level. The belef that the outward gold movement is not yet concluded added to the disinclination to buy stocks. The preliminary trade statement of the treasury de-partment for May discloses that the total exports for the fiscal year for the first time fell below those of last year's at the end of May to the extent of something over $5,000,000. But the exports in June of last year showed a heavy decrease from those of May so that the June exports for this year, which are running much nearer to last year's level, may bring the total for the fiscal year up to last year's unprecedented figures. The continued high level of imports compared with those of last year will cause a marked diminultion in the country's favorable trade balance for the fiscal year. But it is now evident that the trade balance will be between twenty and thirty millions over half a billion dollars, which is far above the record for any previous year of apathy on the part of the traders. The opening in September ranged from 765% 77%c compared with yesterday's closing price of 76%c. There was no great buying demand at first, and for nearly half an hour the price hung around those figures. The market began to broaden, and, once started, the buying increased until the demand was the heaviest seen in the pit for several days. News sensitive the coefficient of the price of the pric san to broaden, and, once started, the buying increased until the demand was the heaviest seen in the pit for several days. News regarding the condition of the Russian crop dominated everything else. Beerbohm's statement that the wheat crop was an entire failure in a large area north of the Black sea was confirmed from many sources. The first bulge carried September to 77%c. This was call price, but selling against those privileges did not check the rush of buying orders, and the buying continued to advance until September reached 78%c. This was 1%c above yesterday's final figure, and the profit proved so tempting that much long wheat came out and checked the upward rush. Complaints of too much rain in the southwest were numerous. Northwest receipts were 417 cars, against 28 last week and 119 a year ago. Chicago received 161 cars. The cash demand here was rather slow. September fluctuated between 78%, and 78½ during the last half hour's trading, and was bringing 78½c at the close.

There was a firm, active market in corn. Trading was influenced parity by the strength of wheat. There was a good cash demand here, and selling against country acceptances was light. Reports of the destruction of the barley crop in six provinces of Russia helped the advance. Receipts were 601 cars. September ranged from 34%g6554c, and closed ½40%c higher at 35c.

Oats were in active demand, and a good advance was scored. The cash trade was lawne even demend.
